Dear Parents / Carers and Children,

I was delighted to hear that our footballers won their match last night against Millmead 3-2. Despite the rain, our players gave of their best and were a credit to the school, leaving the field triumphantly looking like giant mud pies. Well done Morgans!

It feels as if we have been invaded by men in high visibility vests, brandishing theodolites this week. They have been surveying the exterior of Morgans' site, including a health and safety report for the condition of our trees. We had a similar survey last year on the interior areas of the school. We were one school amongst about thirty others being invaded. We got very detailed drawings last year so I look forward to what we will receive from this visit.

I cannot believe that next week is the last of this half term. Next week is a busy one with the Dance Festival on Monday evening, Year 6 SATS meeting for parents on Tuesday evening at 6.30 pm and Aylmerton at 7:00 pm on Wednesday.

Enjoy your week ends – Saturday promises to be the best one weather wise.

Kind regards Sue Dutt

Magnificent Museum

Hertford Museum is a fantastic local resource and well worth a visit with your child if you have not already.

What you may not know is that the museum has made the shortlist for the Arts Fund Museum of the Year Award. This list of 10 museums also includes The British Museum and the V&A so it's an amazing achievement to even get this far. This carries a prize of £100,000.00 which would be a fabulous windfall for Hertford Museum.

The final selection will be made by a judging panel but they will be influenced by the amount of support each of the entries receives from an online vote. Those of you who would like to support the museum in its bid are invited to vote online at this link:

Many thanks if you do.

Brief Notices...

Mr Scarisbrick would like to hear from anybody who has a flat back lorry and would be willing to transport some large logs from Broxbourne Wood to enhance the school's pond.

Here is a parentline number and web address offering 24/7 support for adults and children who find themselves concerned about a problem. The telephone and email service is confidential and may well help through offering some useful advice.

Muddy Morgans Football

Morgans 3 Millmead 2

The Morgans players gave good accounts of themselves during Thursday's quagmire classic against Millmead. Character building conditions proved no barrier with some excellent moments of interplay linkage and movement when in possession. Our defence were equally resolute with some strong headers and tackles to deny Millmead an equaliser. Well played team.
